The Concept

P.05 — P.08

The uncomplicated concept began with a sense of place and a unique understanding of its environment. The result is an architectural piece that bravely belongs.

Embrace of nature

Directly adjacent to South Bank, Nivå beckons from the serene tip of the Turtle Tail Peninsula. A highly desirable neighborhood, secluded, yet effortlessly accessible. Days begin with sunrise over the Caicos Bank to the South and draw in with sunsets over Juba Sound to the North. Elevated at the ocean's edge sit a limited series of architecturally designed villas bedded into the limestone of the iron shore.

Nivå 1-5 are unified by a shared design language, and form unique relationships as each finds its own level in the natural landscape. Nivå 6 takes stage on a sweeping plot at the edge of the iron shore and welcomes panoramic views framed by unparalleled open expanse on all levels.

“Elegantly suspended on the rugged iron shore, Nivå reflects the beauty of the horizon, framing the view with simple, pure lines.”

The Design

P.09 — P.14

A response to the environment, built into layers of the landscape, Nivå is designed for an elevated lifestyle in the embrace of nature.

Nivå = Level

Nivå's name reflects its architectural vision while conjuring a sense of style and simplicity.

A nod to Scandinavian placemaking, Nivå's meaning in Swedish is level or topography, reflecting the composition of the design by Ström. In its purest form, Nivå is an arrangement of living levels; formed from stacked podiums built into layers of the landscape.

A sense of openness embedded in nature. An architectural statement.

The unapologetically contemporary design integrates into the natural coastline with the innate ease of something borne of its environment. Expansive social living spaces capture every inch of the ocean through edge-to-edge glass, and slender exterior sleeves offer protection from the elements, welcoming you to live outside as much as inside.

Quiet solitude to appreciate the flow of life

Large, open social spaces that welcome views and guests

Nivå 6

P.28 — P.38

An architectural moment on the landscape where bold design belongs and views to and from are balanced and breathtaking.

The ultimate expression.

A stage and sanctuary
for every moment.

Indoor spaces echoed outdoors. The fully glazed open-plan kitchen, dining, and living rooms extend outside to the covered lounge areas, dining space, and outdoor kitchen.

Fronted by the pool and elongated hot tub, Nivå 6 enables a seamless flow and embodies the freedom of indoor-outdoor living.
